END OF YOUNG WOMAN'S CAREER

The body of Bessie Toome, a niece of former President Wm. H. Newman, of the New York Central Railroad, who went to New York when she was a young girl and ruined her life in the theatrical district, was shipped back to Marshall, Tex., Sunday for burial. She died on Friday at a hotel in the theatrical district. She was 27 years old. Her career had been a varied one.

The daughter of R. H. Toome, a railway man of Texas, she early wanted to study for the stage. She spent some time in a dramatic school, toured the south in Piner's "Iris" with private backing, and then went into stock company work. She married Joe Willard, a vaudeville song-and-dance man. For a time they played on the vaudeville circuit a sketch entitled "La Belle Marie," portraying a mistreated and jealous wife.

Mr. Newman disinherited her, it was said at the time, and she went back to her people in Texas. Unable to get the fascination of the stage out of her blood, she again took to stock company work. Last year she was engaged to go on the road with one of the "Harvard Moon" companies.

Of late her stage attempts had been unsuccessful. She was arrested several times, sometimes for intoxication, but influential friends always got her out of these legal troubles. Her advice to girls was to keep away from the stage. "It looks romantic," she said, "but it is only brutal."

THREATENING LETTERS.

A threatening letter, predicting death for several justices and members of the district attorney's staff, has been received by the district attorney's office in New York.

Those in the office say that the sender may be traced by looking up recent releases from Sing Sing and by taking account of what the writer says of his own case. The letter was mailed at the Grand Central Station. It was addressed to "the District Attorney of New York" on the envelope and was dated on the letter "New York, August 8, 1910."

The letter begins abruptly and ends without signature.

"I am now a free man after three years sentence in Sing Sing, along with three others, whom I have made friends. We have decided to deal out a death sentence to Judge O'Sullivan, Judge Maroon (Maloney?), Judge Fawcett, Judge Rosalsky, District Attorney Ely, Hart and two others. Our lives are not worth living. I cannot locate my wife and children. I was charged with grand larceny. And as sure as God is in heaven I was innocent, and I am also sure that many a man in state prison is innocent. The day is not far when some of the above names mentioned will be a thing of the past. This may be taken as a joke, but wait for results. It is a disgrace to the world to see a married man taken from his family just because certain people go to the district attorney and swear they were swindled. If people are fools enough to give another person money, let them suffer. It is all right to send a criminal to prison, but not people who take money for investment purposes and lose it."

RESCUED FROM A NEGRO.

Miss Bessie Unger, High School graduate, aged 22, was rescued from the clutches of a negro man in the bedroom of the janitor of the Culver office building, St. Louis, at 8 o'clock last night.

Police Sergeant Wade Matthews broke open the door, and seeing the negro threatening the white girl with a revolver, struck the black on the forehead with his club, knocking him through a window into an alley, where he was captured by police waiting below. The negro said his name was James Bradford, aged 47.

Miss Unger explained that the negro dragged her into the room when she called in answer to an advertisement for a young woman to take charge of his office business when he left town on Monday on account of sickness.

Aaron Priwer, her cousin, of Los Angeles, who is in St. Louis visiting her uncle, Paul Littman, with whom she lives, had accompanied her and was waiting on the street below for her return.

He advocated that the crowd assembled lynch the negro, and cries of "Lynch him!" and "Get a can of oil," hastened the police away with their prisoner.

A warrant charging attempted criminal assault, the penalty for which is hanging in Missouri, will be applied for.

State Officials Face Problem.
Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 16.—State officials are facing a serious problem today, following the command of Governor Haskell that they move their offices to Oklahoma City. They stand a chance of being declared in contempt of court if the offices are moved and the governor asserts he will declare their offices vacant if they are not in Oklahoma City by tonight.

The mix-up follows the action taken by the District Court here some time ago, when an order was issued restraining all state officials, but the governor, from moving their offices until the capital case has been settled on its merits. One state official says he believes the others will refuse to move to Oklahoma City, has Kaskell a constitutional right to declare their offices vacant is questioned, while Attorney Wright is said to have notified to State Auditor Trapp not to cash any warrants for expenses in moving.

Three members of the state board of equalization met with Haskell here yesterday and when the governor was told contempt proceedings might be instituted on this account, he said: "If the district court has any more contempt for us than we have for it, it's a bird."

INTERNATIONAL LAWS AND DOGS

By international law a diplomat representative and all who accompany him are granted immunity from the laws of the country to which he is accredited. The word used to express the diplomatic immunity or circle so favored is "entourage." Yesterday the question was raised in Washington as to whether an ambassador's dog roaming without the confines of the embassy could rightly claim membership in the "entourage."

The way in which this problem came about was this. In Turkey a man above all things may not lift his hand to strike a dog. By a sacred law the pariahs of Constantinople are guarded from all harm. In this land, however, a dog particularly in summer, is regarded by the law with little favor, so little indeed in this town that he must wear a muzzle to save his hide. Now his excellency Yousouf Zia, Turkish ambassador from Turkey, brought with him a dog of high degree, one Kiazim, who was wont in Jolly Constantinople to do as he pleased and brought this code of ethics with him to the land of the free. While chasing a cat with great abandonment he was today rudely pointed out by a foundmaster Einstein's minions and a lively fight ensued. Kiazim, however, mindful perhaps of the international indignity that would be heaped upon him where he threw with a mob of curs into the canine black Maria, fought valiantly and made his get-away. So, knotty international problem for Washington, for the Turkish embassy is wroth at the assault.

TO MAKE LEMONADE OF OCEAN.

The Red Star liner Lapland plans to turn at least a considerable portion of the Atlantic Ocean into lemonade. She sailed for Antwerp Saturday carrying 1,000,000 lemons, which her crew will dump into the ocean as soon as the vessel gets far enough from land. The consignment was sent from Antwerp to a commission merchant in New York on August 2, but he would not accept them because the fruit was overripe, he said. So the board of health stepped in and ordered the lemons removed.

DOCTOR AND WOMAN DEAD.

As was stated in a dispatch in the Gazette, the bodies of Dr. Russell Campbell and Mrs. Ira Morrison were found at the home of the Morrises in New Germantown, Perry county, Pa., yesterday. A neighbor discovered the body of the woman lying across the front doorstep and further search revealed the doctor's body in his room. Hasty examination showed that the woman had died from internal hemorrhage resulting from an operation. The theory of the police is that Dr. Campbell performed the operation some time during the night, and on discovering the fatal result, killed himself. His death was due to cyanide of potassium.

Dr. Campbell was 24 years of age. He was a son of Dr. Hans Campbell, a well-known physician of Path Valley, Franklin county, Pa. A few months ago the young man went to New Germantown and set himself up in practice.

A coroner's jury found a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Morrison had died from the effects of an operation and that Dr. Campbell died from poison taken with suicidal intent, as a result of the fatal outcome of the operation.
